4. Claims 1,3-20,28-31,37-44, and 51-52 are pending.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments filed 12 September 2005 have been fully considered and they are persuasive.

Allowable Subject Matter

6. Claims 1,3-20,28-31,37-44, and 51-52 are allowed.
7. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: The present invention is directed toward a method and apparatus for providing secure, controlled access to one or more functions within an electronic device preventing access by unauthorized entities. Each independent claim identifies the uniquely distinct feature "assigning a corresponding key to each group containing a plurality of functions, performing authentication process based upon the corresponding key, and providing selective access to functions within the group corresponding to the assigned key, while prohibiting access to other functions within other groups". The closest prior art Osborn (US Patent No. 6,026,293) discloses a public key cryptography system for preventing unauthorized manipulation of desirably secure memory contents in an electronic device. However, Osborn fails to disclose providing access to certain functions while denying access to other functions, which may have different security requirements. Therefore, Osborn either singularly or in combination, fail to anticipate or render the above underlined limitations above.

8. Therefore, claims 1,12,28, and 37 and the respective dependent claims 3-11, 12-20,29-31,38-44, and 51-52 are in condition for allowance.

Conclusion

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
